WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

TESTING OF THE BIG GUN AT OLD POINT.

The Board which was appointed by the War Department to make experiments upon the targets erected at Old Point by the Engineer's department, arrived there Thursday morning, and is composed of the following distinguished officers: Gen. J. G. Barnard, President; Generals Wright, Tower and Callum; General C. B. Reese, Secretary.—They were accompanied by Generals Delafield, Humphreys, Benham, Simpson, Dimick, Newton, Thom, Stewart, Gilmore and Casey, and Gen. Rodman, Hagner and Col. King of the Ordnance Department.

At about 11 A. M. on Thursday, the party went up the beach and examined the three targets, and various were the opinions expressed as to their durability; the engineers contending that they would stand many and well directed shots ere they would crumble and fall, while the ordnance officers were equally confident that with their ponderous gun they could soon knock them into "pi"—or words to that effect. The targets are built upon the beach about half a mile north of the fort. The one next the bay is composed of an iron embrasure, supported on one side by a brick parapet, while the opposite side is of stone, the arch over them being of brick. The embrasure is about ten feet high by six feet in breadth.—There is a port hole some two and a half feet square in the centre. Above and below this are heavy 12 inch wrought iron plates, supported by heavy 12-inch iron plates, which occupy the two sides.

The sides in turn are supported by four immense iron pillars, fifteen inches in depth, and a foot thick, to which the front plates are firmly bolted. The second target from the beach is also an iron embrasure, supported by masonry and heavy iron bars, 12x15 inches. One side of the parapet is of concrete, while the other is earth. A third target, built in the shape of a tower, is composed of cut Gneiss, the object being to test the relative strength of that material, compared with granite. A fourth target is composed of granite, and is somewhat similar to the plan of the Ripraps, it being a stone embrasure, supported by arches of brickwork, while that of the Ripraps if of granite.

The board having everything in readiness, began operations Thursday about noon, on the last target described. The first shot was from a 13 inch smooth bore, and grazed the edge of the embrasure, passing through the open space in the target, and doing very little damage. The second shot was from the same gun and struck to the right and a little above the target, doing considerable damage to the front of the target, besides cracking it badly in the rear, and carrying large peices of granite, weighing several hundred pounds, a great distance from the target.

A third shot struck to the right of the embrasure, doing much damage, while the fourth struck just below the embrasure, carrying stone and everything before it.—The object of this was to see the effect of this kind of firing upon a stone fort, such as this, or Fort Wool. The tests were, of course, very severe. They were conducted by the most experienced officers of the army in that branch of the service. Col. T. G. Taylor, commanding the arsenal, had charge of the firing, assisted by Maj. W. S. Beebe and Capt. M. L. Poland.

The next experiment was upon the iron embrasure of the second target described. The first shot struck the plate fairly in the centre, and nearly buried itself in the solid wrought iron, which had to "fall back," accompanied by an immense amount of stone work, by which it was supported. The second shot was from the large twelve-inch gun—the arrival of which we noticed a few days since. The shot weighed over 600 pounds, and was backed by 100 pounds of powder. It struck the opposite side of the iron target, and completely demolished it, making a huge gap in the wall to the right.

This is said to have been an invention of Gen. Barnard's, and certainly looked very formidable before the work of destruction had been commenced. The General viewed the ruins of his target with complacency, merely remarking that he should have had the iron plates—(which were 12 by 15 inches)—rolled instead of hammered.

To day they are going to have some experiments on the target next the beach, which, being composed of wrought iron entirely, will no doubt withstand the "pressure" longer than those heretofore experimented upon.—Norfolk Journal.

DOCTORS IN MADRID.—The author of "A Winter Tour in Spain" writes:

"Doctors have a sorry reputation in Madrid, and no wonder. It was our misfortune to come in contact with three of them—an alarming number anywhere, but doubly so here. Dr. G., the first called in, frankly owned he could make nothing of his patient, one of the little people of our party; he thought it was gout, but it might be, and probably was, something else. Under this unsatisfactory conclusion it was suggested another should be consulted. Dr. C. gladly agreed, but said it was the fashion to have three at a consultation; so it was settled a third should be present,—Dr. C., of course, making his own choice as to who they were to be. At the appointed hour these three men arrived, all dressed in the deepest mourning and smoking cigars. It was a sight to frighten the strongest invalid, and to send a timid one to fits, as it very nearly did the poor child; however, she was quietly taken out of sight and hearing. Then, between puffs and spitting, they each delivered their opinion, which was worth as much as the smoke that came from their mouths. There was first the doctor who was the principal attendant at the palace; then the head of the hospital for children, and, lastly, Dr. C. They all agreed that it might be one thing or it might be another, and then they took their departure, and with them each two hundred reals."

A CONFEDERATE IN LUCK.—A rebel soldier named Clayton—a resident of Person county—was let out of prison at the close of the war, and landed in Philadelphia, ragged and without a cent of money. He met up with an old bachelor gentleman, who, taking a fancy to him, sent him to an old maiden sister living in the country, to be employed by her on her farm. He worked all that year for the old lady and saved money enough to bring him home. The other day Clayton received notice of the old lady's death, and that she had left him the whole of her estate. The estate contains about 160 acres of good land—lies 46 miles from Philadelphia—is well stocked, and has all the conveniences of a model farm.—Clayton lived some 10 or 12 miles from here, and has suffered extreme poverty.—Milton Chronicle.

MR. ASHLEY'S REPORT.

The report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction to the Governor has been laid upon the desks of the members of the Legislature. It possesses some points of interest, but is too long for our columns. He arranges his remarks under the following heads: Education (late Literary) Fund; Stocks belonging to said Fund; Swamp Lands; County Superintendents of Common Schools; University and Normal Schools. He estimates the Educational Fund, from the Railroad Stock and Banks of North Carolina and Cape Fear, in the aggregate, at $1,679,600; the Public Treasurer's certificates due by the State and drawing 6 per cent., at $383,045; Coupon State Bonds at 6 per cent. $21,584; the amount derived from entries of vacant lands at about $1,500; and retail tax on liquors at $6,762 50,—from all which the annual income of the Educational Fund will only be about $32,982 70 at present. A sad falling off, showing the fatal effects of the war.

He recommends a careful investigation into the affairs of the Banks, all which of course is correct, but the following fling at the managers of the Banks, in advance of such investigation, and before the whole truth is known, is rude and discourteous in a public officer, and especially from a mere new comer. He says:

"It is due to the people of the State, that the waste and loss of this sacred fund should be accounted for: it is also due to those persons who have had the management of these Banks, that it be shown that none of this vast sum has inured to their personal benefit."

Such an allusion is both impertinent and wicked, and well calculated, coming from a public officer, to excite public suspicion, so far as the influence of said officer can make it, derogatory to the personal reputation of gentlemen connected with the North Carolina and Cape Fear Banks. If any of the gentlemen alluded to, in their personal and private characters, are not above suspicion, then we have none among us, and carpet-baggers may claim, perhaps, to be their equals. Let the investigation be had, by competent men, themselves above suspicion, and the result will not make any of the managers of the Banks blush. That they may have erred in judgment may be shown in some particulars; but who has not in the South, during the late war, erred in some respects? But that they have not acted with fidelity and aimed to do right and for the best, we do not believe any one can show.

The Superintendent estimates the Swamp Lands, which are vested in the Literary Board, at 1,500,000 acres. He advises that they be brought into market for sale.

Quite a large amount, which was in excess of expenditures for Common Schools formerly, was retained in the hands of the County Superintendents. The facts in this case the Superintendent proposes very properly to investigate, but concludes that most or all of them had invested the funds in Confederate securities. This is no doubt correct, or in State war securities, which the national government compelled the State to repudiate. This will be found, too, to be the real cause of the failure of the Banks.

Mr. Ashley recommends the resuscitation of the University and the establishment of Normal Schools for the preparation of teachers, &c.

The Superintendent, in conclusion, states, that the new Constitution adds not less than 150,000 persons to the number requiring Common School instruction! If so, then, in the depressed condition of the people of the State, there is little hope for them.

In 1860, the white people of the State were nearly in the ratio of two to one of the blacks. We feel quite confident that the census of 1870 will show that that ratio has been very nearly preserved. At no time, we think, before the war, were there more than 125,000 pupils on the registers of the Common Schools. The new Constitution, it is true, embraces a larger number, by extending the age to 21 in which persons may attend the Common Schools, but the larger proportion of persons, both white and black, between the ages of 14 and 21, cannot be spared from necessary labor, in order to be fed and clothed, and, hence, the actual number to be provided with public school instruction will not be as large as many suppose.—According to the Superintendent's idea, 300,000 must be provided for, which would be one third or one fourth of the population,—a ratio far greater, we judge, than will be found in any of the States. That number of pupils in the Public Schools would require an annual outlay of about $800,000!

SPECIAL ELECTION.—"Gov." Holden has issued a proclamation, in hot haste, ordering an election in the 41st. District, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the assumed ineligibility of Major A. C. Avery, on Thursday, the 17th. of December. We trust that our friends in that District will exert themselves to rebuke this conduct of the Senate, by giving some good and true man an increased majority.

Legislature of North Carolina.

TUESDAY, Nov. 24, 1868.

The Senate was called to order at 11 o'clock.

Prayer by the Rev. Henry Eppes, colored, from Halifax.

A memorial was presented, signed by prominent members of the bar, recommending an amendment to the Code of Civil Procedure; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

BILLS, &c.

By Mr. Walker: A bill to amend the existing law relative to the Public Roads. Referred to the Committee on Propositions and Grievances.

By Mr. Robbins: A bill to extend the time within which widows may dissent from their husbands' wills. Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

By Mr. Etheridge: A bill to protect certain citizens of North Carolina, who rented lands of the United States Treasury Agent, during the late war. Referred to the Committee on Propositions and Grievances.

By Mr. Beeman: A bill empowering Deputy Clerks to act as Probate Judges.—Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

By Mr. Respass: A resolution proposing to raise a Joint Committee to take into consideration the merits of the Mendenhall Hand Loom, and ascertain if it would not be useful in the Penitentiary, Work Houses, &c.

Mr. Barrow moved to amend, by including the Automatic Washing Machine; which was adopted.

Mr. Love moved to postpone the further consideration of the resolution until the 4th of July next; when Mr. Respass withdrew the resolution.

By Mr. Winstead: A resolution to pay Mr. A. C. Avery per diem and mileage up to the time that his seat was declared vacant.

Mr. Blythe opposed the resolution. He hoped that gentlemen would not be so liberal with the people's money. He had opposed this thing last session, and would not vote to pay any man for services not rendered.

Mr Sweet said that he was as much in favor of economy as any member on the floor, and had labored earnestly, last session, to accomplish that end, but this is such an expenditure of the public fund as is allowed in all legislative bodies. Here is a gentleman, who comes with his credentials, expecting to take his seat, as all of us did.—There were doubts as to his eligibility, and there were other Senators who were confident he was entitled to his seat. A majority decided against him, and now all that is asked is to pay him up to the time that his seat was declared vacant.

Mr. Winstead said that the Senator from Henderson surprised him. He had intimated that he had introduced a resolution to waste the people's money. He claimed nothing but what was right and just. It is true that the Senator had argued before against paying Senators who were deprived of their seats, but his argument had failed to convince this Senate that he was right. Mr Avery's case was a different one from others that have been before this body; it admitted of doubt and a large number still doubt if he is ineligible. Yet a majority of the Senate having decided that he was, he would not complain, though he voted in the minority. It is due the Senate, that he should be paid, as specified in the resolution.

Mr. Robbins said that until this whole matter of eligibility under the Howard amendment is finally settled by the Courts, it was useless to attempt so many nice distinctions. The Senator was clearly entitled to his pay.

The question recurring on the resolution, on motion of Mr. Blythe the ayes and nays were called, and the resolution was adopted by the following vote: Ayes 38, Nays 5.

Messrs. Bellamy, Burns, Blythe, Moore, of Carteret, and Smith voted in the negative.

Mr. Sheffner introduced a resolution, proposing to raise a Committee on mileage, before whom each member shall be examined, on oath, in reference to the number of miles he was compelled to travel, coming and returning home, by the usual route, when he shall receive a certificate, with the amount due thereon for mileage, from the Chairman of the Committee.

Mr. Rich said he hoped that Senators would not demean themselves by voting for such a resolution. We are not school boys nor a set of thieves, and the resolution is certainly a reflection.

Mr. Sweet said he had much rather be considered a school boy than a knave, and yet it was known that certain members of both parties had overdrawn. He did not allude so much to the Senate as to the other branch of the Assembly. It had been charged that a member of that body had drawn mileage for 1,500 miles, and he did not know from whence he came in this State to travel that distance. If there was such a place, he would like to hail from it. He thought the resolution a proper one and should vote for it.

Mr. Blythe said he thought that, as gentlemen were anxious to investigate the mileage question, per diem should be included also. He thought there were members who were drawing pay and were absent a great deal of the time, attending to their own private affairs. Bring them to taw.

Mr. Cook desired to know the Senator's ground for presenting such a resolution—He thought it a reflection on the Clerk and the President of the body.

Mr. Sweet said he thought he spoke plainly enough to be understood, but if Mr. Sheffner, the Senator who introduced the resolution, could add any additional light, he would be pleased to listen to him.

Mr. Sheffner said he had received information from different sources, that certain members of the General Assembly had drawn mileage—some of them for 700, and others for 1,500 miles. He introduced the resolution in good faith; if there was any thing wrong, he desired to ferret it out. When whipping-posts were in vogue, he did not object to them, because he knew they were not intended for him; and he was surprised to see Senators oppose a measure that could not do any honest man any harm.

Mr. Robbins said he was in favor of making men do what was right, but he thought the resolution, in its present form, a reflection on the whole Senate. He was willing to see the matter investigated in a proper manner, but doubted the propriety of the resolution.

Mr. Etheridge said he was in favor of the resolution, for two reasons: First, if the resolution passed, he would draw more mileage; and, secondly, because a member of the House came here in his buggy, last session, and drew mileage for 1,500 miles, while men from his county came here and got a certificate from the Treasurer, used it against him in the late campaign, and carried the county against him.

Mr. Love said he probably lived further from Raleigh than any other Senator, and he drew pay for 400 and odd miles, coming and returning. He was confident the resolution could not reach him, and was in favor of it.

On motion of Mr. Jones, of Wake, that portion of the resolution, requiring members to take oath before the Committee, was stricken out, and the resolution passed unanimously.

The President designated Messrs. Shoffner, Graham and Sweet as the Committee.

On motion, the Senate adjourned until to-morrow, 11 o'clock.

By Mr. French: A bill to amend chapter 9, Code of Civil Procedure. Referred.

By the same: A bill to establish a rate of interest in the State. By Mr. Welch: A bill to incorporate the Madran Mining Company. Referred.

Mr. Barnett, from the Committee on Corporations, by leave, reported back the bill incorporating the North Carolina Dental Association, and recommended its passage.

By Mr. Snipes: A bill to incorporate the North Carolina Land and Lumber Company. Referred.

By Mr. Matheson: A bill to provide for the appointment of Undertakers. Referred.

Mr. Waldrop was announced as being detained at home by sickness.

By consent, Mr. Sinclair offered a resolution, raising a Committee to examine the ordinances of the Convention, and ascertain whether there was anything contained therein that required legislative action.

By Mr. Stilly: A bill to amend an act in relation to fines and punishments. Referred.

CALENDAR.

House bill (introduced by Mr. Nicholson, of Iredell,) in reference to builders of public mills, was taken up and passed its third reading. Ordered to be engrossed and sent to the Senate.

House bill No. 10, (introduced by Mr. French, of New Hanover,) incorporating the North Carolina Dental Association, was next reached, when Mr. Durham moved to print, and the motion was adopted.

House bill No. 7, (introduced by Mr. French, of New Hanover,) authorizing the Commissioners of that county to issue bonds, to meet county expenses, to an amount not exceeding $7,000 to each Representative:

Mr. Procter moved to include Robeson county.

Mr. Justice moved to add Rutherford Co Carried.

W. J. Hayes, (colored,) moved to amend by adding Halifax.

Ivey Hutchings, (colored,) said that he thought his colleague was acting rather hastily. He thought it best to consult the leading men of the county, before they acted in the matter.

W. J. Hayes replied that the Chairman of the Board of Commissioners had mentioned the matter to him, before he left home, and, in fact, he had heard from him since he had been here.

The motion was put and carried.

Mr. Downing moved to amend, by adding Union. Carried.

Mr. Ashworth offered an amendment, making the bill general. He said the bill would not make it binding upon the counties to issue these bonds, but left it to the discretion of the Commissioners.

Mr. Williams, of Harnett, said he had a serious objection to so much power being placed in the hands of the County Commissioners. The people of a great many counties would object to laying at the mercy of a few men, to be taxed to pay off these bonds. He certainly objected to such power being given to the Commissioners of his county.

Here the Chair announced that before the proposition of Mr. Ashworth could be entertained, the question should be taken upon Mr. Procter's motion to amend the resolution by including Robeson.

Mr. Welch thought that this bill conferred too much power upon the Commissioners, but, if the bill was going to pass, he wished to add a provision, requesting the Commissioners to submit the question of making such appropriation to the ratification of the people of the county.

Mr. French said that every member should know what was best suited to their Counties. Such a measure was absolutely necessary to his. The Poor House was full of paupers; the County Treasury completely exhausted, and the County entirely without credit, unable to borrow a dollar. They were in fact anticipating the taxes of 1869. As to the constitutionality of this measure, there was no doubt, as the Constitution expressly says that every County might raise money to meet its necessary expenses. A great many thought that they could go on and issue bonds, without consulting this body, but, to be on the safe side, this bill was introduced. If gentlemen were going to oppose the bill, because the necessities of their Counties did not require such action, he would oppose the amendment making it general.

After considerable discussion, Mr. Ashworth withdrew his amendment.

Mr. Ingram moved to amend by adding Anson County. Carried.

Mr. Gunter moved to include Chatham. Carried.

The question then recurred upon Mr. Procter's motion, to amend, by adding Robeson, and, the motion being put, it was adopted.

Mr. Hodnett said he opposed the bill on the ground that it was an attempt to conceal the expense unavoidably incident to the new State government, by borrowing money, which would be unknown to most of the people, instead of direct taxation, whereby the people could see at once the working of this new system. Mr. H. called upon gentlemen to show their hands and toe the mark, so that the people could at once know what burdens of taxation they will be called upon to bear. The Commissioners have already, by law, the power to levy the necessary taxes for county purposes, and let them take the responsibility and do so; and then the people can judge for themselves what advantage they have derived from the new system of government, which has recently been imposed upon us.—Let there be no concealment. Let the Commissioners exercise the powers given them by law to raise money. That is the fair and manly way, for then the people will soon find out whether or not this new order of things is likely to prove a blessing.

Mr. Estes favored the bill.

Here various gentlemen, who had moved to include their counties, gave their reasons for so doing;—and the debate continued, when,

Mr. French moved the previous question, and the motion, being put to a vote, was adopted.

The question recurred upon the original proposition, as amended by the inclusion of the above mentioned counties; the Clerk called the roll, and the bill passed its second reading by a vote of yeas 66, nays 17.

Mr. Procter gave notice that he would, on Tuesday next, introduce a bill to amend the charter of the town of Lumberton.

Mr. Matheson gave notice that he would introduce a bill to incorporate the town of Taylorsville, Alexander Co., and, also, a bill to incorporate Lodge No.——, A. Y. M., Taylorsville.

Mr. Clayton, of Transylvania, gave notice that he would introduce a bill to incorporate Lodge, No. ——, A. Y. M., at Dunn's Rock.

House bill No. 20 (Mr. Malone's) in relation to obtaining license to practice law in this State, upon which the Committee on the Judiciary had reported favorably, was taken up, when

Mr. Justice, of Rutherford, offered, as a substitute, a bill to regulate the granting license to practice law. He moved that the original, together with the substitute, be re committed to the Committee on the Judiciary. Carried.

J. H. Harris, of Wake, (colored,) from the Committee on Propositions and Grievances, reported upon the bill to establish a Ferry upon Neuse River, recommending its passage.

Mr. Seymour gave notice that he would introduce a resolution looking towards the consolidation of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad with the North Carolina Railroad; also, another notice, that he would offer a bill, authorizing the Commissioners of Craven county to submit to the people the question of issuing bonds to the amount of — dollars, for the purpose of building a bridge over Neuse River, at Newbern.

On motion of Mr. Leffin, the House then adjourned.

GEN. GRANT'S CABINET AND FUTURE POLICY.—A correspondent of the Chicago Times informs that journal that Gen. Grant has written a letter to Gen. Slocum, congratulating him on his election to Congress, and intimating that there will not probably be anything in the next administration which a moderate Democrat may not support. At the same time the impression gains strength here that Gen. Grant will select his Cabinet from moderate Radicals, hoping by this means to make a conservative policy acceptable to the Republican party.

The report that coolness exists between Gen. Grant and Mr. Washburne is denied on excellent authority.—Wash. Express.

DIED:

NEW YORK.

THE UNIVERSAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, NEW YORK.

Office, No. 60, Liberty Street.

The Original Joint Stock Life Insurance Company in the United States.

The business of this Company is EXCLUSIVELY confined to the insurance of first-class healthy lives.

THE DISTINCTIVE FEATURE of the STOCK system of Life Insurance, as opposed to the MUTUAL is a low rate of premium for a stated sum assured, which is IMMEDIATE, SECURE AND CERTAIN in lieu of a high rate of premium for a promised dividend which is DISTANT, CONTINGENT AND UNCERTAIN; this so-called dividend being merely a return of a portion of the excessive and unnecessary premium charged in the first instance.

ILLUSTRATION.

Suppose that an individual aged thirty desires to devote $200 a year for the purpose of effecting an insurance on his life; this amount will immediately secure him in the "Universal" the sum of $11,751, payable on his decease. This sum paid to a Company charging the ordinary mutual rates, would secure him the sum of $8 474.

The difference between these sums ($3 277) is exactly the same as an immediate bonus or addition to the policy to be paid by the former office to the holder of the policy in case of the early death of the insured. It is true that if the insured, in an office charging high rates, live long enough, and have his periodical dividends added to his policy, the sum may equal or surpass that above named; but it must not be forgotten that the chances of such a death is the very thing the applicant desires to insure against and consequently the very thing the sum immediately secured contingent on this event, the greater the advantage to the policy holder.

To illustrate the importance to the policy-holder of low premiums in more general terms it may be stated that by a reduction of twenty-five per cent in the rate of premium, the same amount of money will secure a policy thirty-three and one-third per cent greater and likewise that a reduction of twenty-five per cent. in the rate of premium is precisely equivalent to an annual cash dividend of thirty three and one-third per cent., payable in advance or on a dividend of forty-five per cent, payable at the end of five years.

By the Stock plan the full cash effect of the premium is immediately secured to the insured, the Company taking all the risk. By the Mutual plan the full value in insurance of the premium paid is not secured to the policy-holder, who takes a portion of the risk himself.

THE NUMBER of visitors to the City increases with each day. The Federal Court, which commences its session, on Monday next, will attract a large crowd.

CITY IMPROVEMENTS.—We are pleased to see in various quarters of the City, the evidences of steady improvement. M. H. Brown, Esq. has just erected a neat two story brick building on the burnt square, south of the Market House. Immediately adjoining it, W. H. Holleman, Esq. is having built a handsome three-story brick store with iron-front. Lower down on Fayetteville Street, next to the old Cape Fear Bank, Mr. Fraps is constructing a commodious Furniture Ware-Room, and otherwise improving the premises. On Wilmington Street, the Messrs. Overby are erecting substantial brick structures, and in other portions of the City improvement is the word. Such indications are gratifying.

THANKSGIVING.—Thursday (to morrow) is the day set apart by the civil authorities as a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer. We presume that there will be Divine service in the various Churches of the City.

SUPREME COURT ROOM.—The spirit exhibited on Monday, in the House, in reference to the Supreme Court Room, indicates the purpose of the Legislature to bring the Court down from the "cock loft," where it was crammed, some time since, by the authorities, and restore it to its old quarters. The character and public importance of this, the highest tribunal in the State, demand for it an eligible location.

"COLLARDS" was observed in close confabulation, on yesterday, with divers colored "men and brethren" on the street-corners. It is surmised that he draws encouragement from Coates' promotion, and thinks that he is now bound to Butler his bread with the Mayoralty.

CORN.—New corn is selling in our market at about 80 cts. per bushel; old corn from 1,30 to 1,40. At Salisbury, new corn is selling at only 50 to 55 cts. The abundance of the crop in the upper Counties ought to prompt our merchants to bring it down, and thus reduce the price of bread to the suffering poor, the coming winter.

COTTON.—The price of this article still keeps up at living rates. The reduction of price, however, has had the effect of diminishing the quantity coming in.

A CARD.—The attention of those interested in the affairs of the Bank of North Carolina is directed to the advertisement of R. Y. McAden, Esq, of Charlotte, in this issue, in reply to the advertisement of Geo. W. Mordecai, Esq., late President of the Bank of North Carolina, recently inserted in this paper.

REPORT OF THE ADJUTANT GENERAL.—We have before us a copy of the Report of the Adjutant General, A. W. Fisher, to the Governor, and, through him, transmitted to the Legislature. We propose to notice his recommendations, &c., at another time.

He lets part of the secret about "those arms" out of the bag. It appears that, in obedience to the "Governor's" orders, he went North, at the public expense, for the purpose of procuring the arms, and obtained a loan, (which, Mr. A. W. Fisher mildly suggests, "may be duplicated, if thought necessary,") of three thousand Springfield Rifled Muskets, with equipments and ammunition. Who loaned them? Tell us that, "Gen." Fisher—do!

MR. BARROW, of Northampton, said, in the course of the discussion, in the Senate, on the eligibility of Maj. Avery to a seat, that he was authorized to state that three Judges of the Supreme Court had pronounced the opinion that Solicitors came within the ban of the Howard amendment. From whomsoever Mr. Barrow derived his information, he was deceived. We have the best means of knowing that four of the Judges of the Supreme Court have expressed no opinion in the premises. The motive which prompted Mr. Barrow's *mis*information is very palpable.

JAPAN CLOVER.—A correspondent at Franklinton desires to obtain the seed of the Japan Clover. We are not prepared to give the information desired. Who can?

STATE PENITENTIARY.—The board for the building and government of the penitentiary of this State, consisting of the Committee appointed by the General Assembly, and of the Council of State, held their first meeting on yesterday, Nov. 23d, His Excellency the Governor presiding, and W. R. Richardson acting as Secretary.—Thomas H. Coates, of Raleigh, was appointed architect and engineer. It was resolved to build a stockade large enough to provide for one hundred convicts. The Governor was authorized to appoint two members of the board, who, together with Mr. Coates, will visit Northern States and inspect State prisons and penitentiaries with a view to making suitable plans and specifications for the penitentiary of this State. William H. Thompson has been heretofore appointed Superintendent of the penitentiary. The salary of the architect, Mr. Coates, is fixed at $1,800 per annum, and all his necessary traveling expenses paid while out of the State on business; and the salary of Mr. Thompson, Superintendent of convicts &c., is fixed at $100 per month.—Standard.

The publication of the above, in the Organ, on yesterday, indicates that the managers in the matter of the Penitentiary consider that the action of the Legislative Committee is final. Perhaps, if we had no aged and infirm persons in the State, no women and children, to suffer from the extravagance and short-sightedness of those who control public affairs, it would be wise to let the manipulators manage the machine, and drive on until the wheels lock and come at once to the catastrophe, which surely awaits us.—Perhaps, too, the sooner that end is reached, the better for the people.

JUDICIAL CHAOS THREATENED IN VIRGINIA.—A case of unusual interest and importance is now being tried before the United States Circuit Court, Judge Underwood presiding, in Richmond. In the Circuit Court of Rockbridge county, Virginia, one Cæsar Griffin, a colored man, was convicted of shooting a son of Judge Brockenbrough, of Lexington, Va., and was sentenced by Judge Sheffey, the judge of the circuit, to two years imprisonment in the penitentiary. This case has been brought by writ of habeas corpus before Judge Underwood, and the prisoner, by his counsel, claims that Judge Sheffey was disqualified from doing any judicial act, by reason of the fourteenth amendment of the constitution, which prohibits any person from holding any office who had previously to the war been a member of Congress, the Legislature, &c., and taken an oath to support the constitution of the United States, and afterwards given aid and comfort to the Confederacy. Judge Sheffey, who had, previously to the war, been in the Senate and House of Delegates of Virginia, and was speaker of the House of Delegates during the war, comes, it is claimed, within the prohibition. Mr. Sheffey was appointed judge in February, 1866, having been nominated by Gov. Pierpoint, and elected by a Legislature assembled under the Alexandria constitution, while the fourteenth amendment to the constitution was not proclaimed as adopted until the 18th of July last. The case is justly considered of immense importance, as it determines not only the right of Judge Sheffey to hold his seat, but that of every other judge in Virginia. The Attorney General of the State and Mr. James Lyon, and other gentlemen appeared for the respondent, and General Bradley T. Johnson also appeared, at the request of Gen. Echols and other parties in Stanton. In explaining his connection with the case Gen. Johnson observed that if the proposition set up for the prisoner be law, it might affect very seriously protests of notes and acknowledgments of deeds of trust by officers who were disqualified, and thus property interests, to a large amount, were involved. L. H. Chandler, Esq., appeared for the petitioner. The petitioner's counsel declined to express an opinion whether Judge Sheffey was a judge prior to the 18th of July last, when the fourteenth amendment became a law, but insisted that since that time, and on the 15th of September, 1868, when Cæsar Griffin was sentenced to the penitentiary, he was not a judge.

It may be easily imagined what judicial chaos will be produced in Virginia if it is decided that neither Judge Sheffey nor any other judge in Virginia holds office under the authority of law. It seems singular that the case of Griffin, whose sentence, in view of his offence, appears to be light, should have been selected to make this issue upon, and a judge attempted to be made the first victim, who is understood to have made strong opposition to secession before the war, and whose liberal and enlightened sentiments in regard to the colored population, as evinced in his able charges to grand juries, as well as his general reputation as a judge, have attracted towards him the respect of all parties and all classes. Balt. Sun.

U. S. COMMISSIONER'S COURT.—Some of our Jones county friends have been getting into trouble recently. For what, the following cases, which came before U. S. Commissioner Lehman yesterday, will show:

The first case was that of the United States against Calvin Koonce, Esq., for practising the profession of lawyer without paying the special tax required by law.—Complaint was made against Mr. Koonce by S. P. Wright, Deputy Collector. He was recognized in the sum of $200 to appear before the next term of the U. S. District Court.

The next case was that of the United States against Dr. J. J. Alexander, for exercising the profession of physician, without the payment of the special tax required of him as such. He was recognized in the sum of $500 to appear before the next term of the District Court.

The next case was that of the United States against Dr. Titus Hart. This case was identical with the last, and the bond required and given was the same.

The last case was that of the United States against Jos. H. Smith, Esq., charged with carrying on the business of Hotel keeper, without paying the special tax. The case was dismissed.—Journal of Commerce.

The Women's Rights Convention in Boston, on Thursday, adopted a constitution and elected officers, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe being chosen president. Among the vice presidents are William Lloyd Garrison, John G. Whittier, and others. Senator Wilson being called on, made a speech, in which he said that after the negro suffrage question was settled, he should advocate the cause of women.

Gov. Brownlow has again positively refused to fill the vacancy in the Supreme Court, by an appointment recommended by most of the leading Radicals in East Tennessee. The General Assembly is preparing to compel him to do so. The breach between him and those who are anxious to control affairs when he goes to the United States Senate is daily growing wider.

A dispatch from Nashville to the Cincinnati Commercial says: "In the Fourth District, Tillman, the Republican candidate for Congress, has received the certificate.—Steele, Democrat, had 850 majority on a square vote, but after the election was over, there were just enough votes thrown out to declare Tillman elected."

[ADVERTISEMENT.]

THE BANK OF NORTH CAROLINA.

CHARLOTTE, Nov. 19, 1868.

I offer my absence from home as an apology to my friend, Geo. W. Mordecai, late President of the Bank of North Carolina, for my seeming want of respect for, or due appreciation of, the advertisement he was kind enough to favor me with in the "Raleigh Sentinel" some weeks since. My friend, Mr. Mordecai, is mistaken if he thinks that by any personal controversy with me he can shield himself from the just indignation of his Stockholders, at the manner in which he has bankrupted the Bank and thereby destroyed the value of their stock. I shall not trouble the public much with any difference between Mr. Mordecai and myself as to our individual transactions; but I shall, as a stockholder of the Bank of North Carolina, call for an investigation of the manner in which Mr. Mordecai, and his Board of Directors, have squandered my stock, as well as that of other stockholders. As to Mr. Mordecai's charge that the fact of his sending gold to New York, and having it converted into United States Bonds, being reported to the stockholders in June, and being then approved by them, every stockholder at that meeting knows that this statement is not true. Mr. Mordecai, at that meeting, gave the stockholders no satisfactory information about the Bank. He held in his hand a paper that was supposed to be his report, but did not read it, and when the Secretary of the meeting, supposing it to be his report, reached out his hand for the paper, Mr. Mordecai withdrew it. I submit, that it is ungenerous towards the stockholders for Mr. Mordecai to attempt to saddle them with this great blunder of his. Why send this gold to New York, when gold was worth more in North Carolina than in New York? Mr. Mordecai could but know that every Banker in North Carolina bought gold in New York to sell for a profit at home! If necessary to send the gold to New York, it certainly was not necessary to permit the bonds to remain for months in New York, liable to attachment, and this too after Mr. Mordecai had been warned by an attempt once before to attach the funds of the Bank in New York. From the manner in which the Bank has been managed, as I will show in this communication, for the exclusive benefit of Mr. Mordecai and his friends, it looks like this fund was placed in New York in order that it might be attached by some of Mr. Mordecai's friends, and, unluckily for them, just before the apple was fully ripe, it fell into other hands, and hence the trouble!—As to the allegation that I am the owner of the bills, &c., this can make but little difference to the stockholders whether A or B attached the funds; the fault is in Mr. Mordecai, who, unnecessarily, exposed them. The attaching party but exercised a legal right, often exercised by the Bank of North Carolina. Our Court dockets have always been filled with suits of the Banks against the people. Then the Banks were plaintiffs; now, since the tables are turned, and the Banks are fed out of the same spoon that they so long fed the people with, there is a great outcry. The Banks have often sold for debt the poor man's plough horse and the milch cow, and now let the same justice be meted out to them that they so unrelentingly measured out to the people.

Friend Mordecai, how cruel it is in you to try to array your stockholders against me, when you know so well that, as the agent of your Bank, I have made raids on other Banks in this State, and that we have been together in these raids, hand and glove; you standing in the background and receiving without any compunctions of conscience your part of these "ill-gotten gains." If you deny this, let Yanceyville and Wadesboro speak! Then, it was all right in me and all very nice; but now, the case is changed—my friend Mordecai's ox is gored this time.

As to Mr. Mordecai's statement about compromises, this he has misrepresented.—Fortunately for me, all of the propositions for compromise were submitted in writing. Mr. Mordecai can publish these letters if he desires, and I request him to do so—the only condition I impose is that he publish all and not a part, for "thereby hangs a tale" that Mr. Mordecai will not unfold.

Having disposed of Mr. Mordecai's charges, I, as a stockholder, demand that Mr. Mordecai and his Directors call a meeting of the stockholders to investigate the mismanagement of the Bank. Let it be known why Mr. Mordecai was so patriotic as to invest so much of the Stockholders' money in worthless paper and so careful not to invest his own means in the same way. It my friend will pardon the illustration, it reminds one of the noisy, patriotic politician who enlisted all of his ohs bodied relations for the front and failed to volunteer himself. Let it be known why it was that near four hundred thousand dollars of gold on hand at the close of the war, was not sold when gold was worth fifty per cent. premium, thus saving hundreds of thousands of dollars to the stockholders. A "National Bank" could have been started with a capital of six hundred thousand dollars, with branches located in the State where the Bank heretofore had branches, which would have supplied our people with currency, and by this time the debts of the Bank could have been paid off and the stock been worth something handsome. Yet, instead of either of these courses, the gold, or a part of it, was placed in the hands of a few of Mr. Mordecai's friends, who have been using it without interest. Let it be known where this money has been that has been bringing the stockholders no interest. Let the twenty or thirty thousand dollars of expenses since the surrender be looked into. Let it be seen who has grown fat, whilst the stockholders have starved. It is said that these Directors—"honorable men" as they themselves say they are—served before the war without compensation. Then, the stockholders received dividends; since the war these Directors vote themselves pay and vote the stockholders no dividends. Let all be known about that splendid financial operation by which Mr. Mordecai and his Directors, large stockholders in the Bank of the State of North Carolina, paid themselves, from the assets of the Bank of North Carolina, par value, for a deposit of over sixty thousand dollars, due the Bank of the State of North Carolina before the war; at the same time Mr. Mordecai refusing to pay other depositors more than twenty five cents in the dollar.—At the same time these Directors compromised a suit against the Bank of the State for over forty thousand dollars, paying eighty cents in the dollar for the bills. If you could do no better with this deposit, Mr. Mordecai, why did you not pay the eighty cents for these bills and turn them over to the Bank of the State in payment of this deposit? This would have saved the stockholders of the Bank of North Carolina twenty per cent., but it would have been a loss to the stockholders of the Bank of the State of North Carolina, to wit: Messrs. Mordecai and Directors, twenty per cent. Other parties have been paid, by Mr. Mordecai, par for claims against the Bank. I deem it unnecessary to mention names.

Let it be known why it was that Messrs. Mordecai and Directors, stockholders in the Bank of the State of North Carolina, sold to themselves, as Directors of the Bank of North Carolina, real estate in the city of Raleigh, at a price more than its cash value—property that the Bank of North Carolina had no use for—the money being taken from the assets of the Bank of North Carolina and paid to the Bank of the State of North Carolina. Let it be known why it was that Mr. Mordecai, after paying himself and friends par for their claims against the Bank, without consulting his stockholders, by voluntary petition placed the Bank into bankruptcy. Mr. Mordecai had four months to consider, yet in all that time did not consult his stockholders.—Whether bankruptcy was proper or not, is not the question—stockholders have rights, yet, in this most important act of the Bank, Mr. Mordecai has entirely ignored the views of his stockholders. I venture the assertion that this extraordinary assumption of power by Mr. Mordecai and his Directors, to jeopardize the interests of hundreds in North Carolina, without even notifying or consulting them, cannot be approved of by his stockholders.

I charge that the Bank was placed in bankruptcy to tax the stockholders with enormous fees for assignees and attorneys' amounting to thirty or forty thousand dollars, and to threw these fees into the hands of the same parties who have grown fat on the Bank since the surrender.

I notify the stockholders and the creditors that these same parties will try to control the appointment of assignee; watch out for letters and circulars to that effect. Now, friend Mordecai, in conclusion, let me suggest to you that you gratify me by calling a meeting of the stockholders. I will promise to meet you there, and if I have done you injustice you will have a fair opportunity to set yourself aright.

With very high respect, your friend,
Nov. 25 4t R. Y. McADEN.

ADMIRAL SEMMES AND THE ALABAMA.—The work of Admiral Semmes, which will be ready by Christmas, promises to be one of unusual historical interest, as it treats of events in the late war which have not been discussed by other writers. It will embrace the operations of the Sumter and the Alabama, and also those of the James River fleet during the latter part of the war. It will be enlivened by biographical sketches and notices of foreign countries, and the work will contain, in addition, some discussions on international law, with which Admiral Semmes has made himself thoroughly conversant and of which he is peculiarly able to treat. The work is being issued by our townsmen, Messrs. Kelly & Piet, whose successful operations as a publishing house give every promise of a handsome as well as a valuable work. Capt. J. B. Maury is the soliciting agent, and is rapidly obtaining subscriptions.—Balt. Gazette.

[PUBLISHED BY REQUEST.]

THE LATE DR. MORROW.

The circumstances of the death of the late Dr. William H. Morrow have given rise to some degree of misrepresentation, and a true statement of the events connected with it may relieve his memory from undeserved odium.

Dr. Morrow was a native of Orange County, N. C. and a graduate of the University. When the late war opened, he enlisted, in 1861, in the C. S. (Texas) Cavalry, and served some two years as a private under Gen. Forrest and afterwards under Gen. Jno. A. Wharton, and mainly in Tennessee and Kentucky, and during his term of service was present in some of the severest engagements which took place in that region and that period. In 1863 he was transferred to the Medical Department of the army, in which he continued till the close of the war, rendering service in the Eastern part of North Carolina, in Col. Whitford's command. After the war, having tried business in the far West, for a while, he was appointed a Deputy Marshal in North Carolina and Messenger in Bankruptcy. In accepting these offices he was not required to take, and so, of course, did not take, the so-called "iron-clad oath." While in office, he, of course, felt it proper to withdraw as much as possible from all active participation in political affairs. It was this that exposed his position to misconstruction, and which led, probably, to the sad termination of his life. We are not concerned to award accurately their shares of guiltiness to those who were connected with this tragedy. We only know that Dr. Morrow went to Jonesboro' with great reluctance, and, in the encounter that followed, felt all the while that he was acting in a necessary self-defence. The principal agents in that melancholy transaction are beyond the reach of our censure or commendation, and we leave them in His hands who is more merciful than men.

We may add, that, in his official and business intercourse with the citizens of Fayetteville, he won for himself the esteem and confidence of the gentlemen of that community, who have ever been very cautious in the bestowment of their favorable regards. H.

H. RIVES POLLARD SHOT AND KILLED.

RICHMOND, Nov. 24, M.

H. Rives Pollard, Editor of the Southern Opinion, was shot and killed, this morning, at 10 o'clock, while passing near his office, by James Grant.

The cause of the shooting was a publication in the Opinion, reflecting on the character of a member of Grant's family.

SECOND DISPATCH.

RICHMOND, Nov. 24, M.

The following are the particulars of the tragedy this morning:

On Saturday, a report was published in the Southern Opinion, relative to the elopement of the daughter of Wm. H. Grant, a wealthy Tobacconist in this city. This morning, about ten o'clock, as H. Rives Pollard, Editor of the paper, was near his office door, corner of Main and Fourteenth Street, going in, a shot was fired from the upper window of a building opposite. Mr. Pollard fell dead, eleven buckshot having entered his body, one passing through his heart. The police searched the building and found James Grant, brother of the lady named, in the room. He surrendered and was taken to the Station House. A double-barrel gun, one barrel discharged, was found in the room.

The affair has caused great excitement here, and a large crowd have been gathered around the Opinion office, since its occurrence.

MY STOCK IS LARGE AND VERY COMplete. Allow me to say that you see some very strange advertisements. Some say they bought goods before the rise—some after the decline—some just in time—some to luck again—some buy goods cheaper than anybody else—some selling goods at unprecedentedly low prices—some controlling the trade &c., &c., and all such stuff. What a lucky set of individuals!

Now just let ME tell you, that there is more humbug than poetry in all this. Don't every man, woman and child know that it is humbug—large enough to be seen even with one eye shut? So let them talk, puff and blow, but error, LOOK OUT! HANDS OFF! and show your good judgment by

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1868.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

A waste of land, a sodden plain,
A lurid sunset sky;
Wild clouds that fled and faded fast
In ghostly phantasy;
A field upturned by tramp'ling feet,
A field up-piled with slain,
With horse and rider 'neath in death,
Upon the battle plain.

The dying and the dead lie low;
For them no more shall rise
The evening moon, nor midnight stars,
Nor daylight's soft surprise,
They wake no more to tenderest call,
Nor see again each home,
Where waiting hearts shall throb and break
When this day's tidings come.

* * * * * * * * *

Two soldiers lying as they fell,
Upon the reddened clay,
In day time face, at night at peace,
Breathing their lives away.
Brave hearts had stirred each manly breast:
Fate only made them foes;
And lying bleeding side by side,
A softer feeling rose.

"Our time is short," one faint voice said;
"To-day we did our best,
On different sides; what matter now?
To-morrow we're at rest.
Life lies behind; I might not care
For only my own sake,
But far away are other hearts
That this day's work will break.

"Among New Hampshire's many hills
There pray for me to-night
A woman and a little girl
With hair like golden light"—
And at the thought broke forth at last
The cry of anguish wild,
That would not longer be repressed—
"Oh, God! my wife—my child!"

"And," said another dying man,
"Across the Georgia plain,
There watch and wait for me loved ones
I'll never see again.
A little child with dark bright eyes
Each day waits at the door
The father's step, the father's kiss
That never greet her more.

"To-day we sought each other's lives,
Death levels all that now;
For soon before God's mercy seat
Together we shall bow.
Forgive each other while we may;
Life's but a weary game;
And, right or wrong, to-morrow's sun
Will find us dead the same."

The dying lips the pardon breathe,
The dying hands entwine;
The last ray dies, and over all
The stare from heaven shine;
And the little girl with golden hair,
The one with dark eyes bright,
On Hampshire's hill and Georgia's plain,
Were fatherless that night.

A few days since a fire occurred in Philadelphia, which partially destroyed the establishment used for wintering animals attached to menageries. The scene is thus described:—

"A Bengal tiger effected its escape by the breaking of a plank in the den during its removal, and started off up Ridge avenue, followed by a boy. The animal jumped over a fence, and went into the dining room of the residence of a physician. It then passed through the kitchen and into the yard, and so to the stable, where it was captured by some of the menagerie folks and safely secured.

At Twenty-third and Jefferson streets, something walked up the steps of a residence where three ladies were standing, looking at the fire. One of them, thinking the thing was a dog, kicked at it, but the thing would not be driven off that way, and walked into the house, the ladies making room for it when they found it would not be kicked away. A man suddenly dashed by the ladies and into the house, where he found the thing he was in search of—a Brazilian tiger—in the kitchen, amusing itself with a cat. Whether his tigership was playing around the cat until it recovered its breath after its excitement, and then intended to devour it, does not transpire, for the man suddenly threw a carpet over the animal and bore it off in triumph. The lady who kicked at the tiger of course fainted at the brave act she had so thought lately committed.

The cage of monkeys was the most ludicrous thing to behold, as the creatures gibbered away and performed all manner of antics. Parrots spoke out in tones that would have done credit to a basso singer, and the feathered tribe that could not speak were moving about their cages like bats in a lighted room."
